$65,000 HOTEL PLANNED

Movement On Foot to Form a Company to Establish a Modern Hostelry Here.

LOCAL CAPITAL IN PROJECT

Five Story Structure to Be Built
If Plans Now Under Way
Materialize.

If the plans now on foot materialize Paris will soon have a first class up to date hotel, for there is a movement to build a five story hotel in this city at a cost estimated at $65,000, and which is calculated to fill a long felt want.

The movement was inaugurated several months ago when a number of Chicago parties secured an option on the property of Mr. George Rassenfoss at the corner of Main and Seventh streets for this purpose but the option has since expired and upon the request for a renewal Mr. Rassenfoss declined.

It is the purpose to capitalize the concern locally and if the plans are worked out in a manner satisfactory to those who have taken the initiative steps there will be nothing to hinder the establishment of a modern hostelry.

Mr. Rassenfoss conceived the idea that if foreign capital could put a hotel upon a substantial footing it would not be beyond the power of local capital to accomplish the feat and Saturday the plan was suggested to several prominent men and seemed to meet with the general approval of all who have heretofore displayed any interest in a project of this character.

The plan, it is understood, is to build a hotel upon the property of Mr. Rassenfoss at the corner of Main and Seventh and the adjoining property of Mrs. Mollie Roche. The two pieces fronting 66 feet eight inches on Main street and running back a depth of 110 feet. The two property owners have signified their willingness to take the entire valuation of their property, which is estimated at $8,000, in stock in the new concern. Others interested in the project who have been approached on the subject have agreed to subscribe amounts that will bring the total to $28,000. Another citizen of Paris, who several times has expressed a willingness to subscribe the amount of $10,000, is counted upon for that amount.

At present it would seem that more than half the required amount necessary to build and equip a hotel has practically been subscribed and it is confidently believed that the remainder will be forthcoming when the movement is launched in earnest. It is the purpose to erect a five story building 66x110 feet and incorporate the new concern. The structure will contain seventy-five rooms and on the first floor will be two store rooms, each with a front of 20 feet, while in the center will be left an equal amount of space for a hotel lobby.

The scarcity of store rooms in this city insures a ready market for these of the new building at a handsome rental. If the plan goes through the hotel will be equipped in every modern particular, and in the confident belief of those who are urging the movement, will be a big paying investment.

The matter was discussed very favorably yesterday and in all probability within the next few days a campaign will be started for subscriptions to furnish the necessary amount required for the construction and equipment of the building.

Special Feature at the Comet.

Clio and Phyletes, a special Italian feature picture in two reels, will be shown at the Comet Theatre this afternoon and tonight. This is the first time this wonderful picture has been shown in Kentucky, and in connection with one other high class comedy picture it will be the most interesting show ever given at the Comet for the small admission of ten cents. The first performance in the afternoon will start promptly at 2 o'clock, and at night at 7 o'clock. No one should miss seeing this performance, over 700 people and 100 horses being required in its production.

Public Sales.

Auctioneer M. F. Kenney made the following sales at the court house door yesterday: For Special Commissioner Chas. A. McMillan, the John Connor farm on the Winchester and Paris pike about eight miles from Paris, containing about 16 acres, to Jonas Weil for $2,050.

The John Arkle property on Second street for Dundon, Talbott & Whitley, attorneys to Dr. H. E. Mathers for $2,660.

Eight acre farm on Houston creek just outside city limits for Judge Denis Dundon, agent, for Ed Johnson to George Wilder for $200 per acre.

At the same time and place he rented for Miller Ward, trustee for McIntyre heirs, farm of 149 acres in Fayette county to W. O. Butler at $3.30 per acre.

IF YOU HAVE A SICKLY YOUNGSTER TRY THIS FREE

The family with young children that is without sickness in the house now and then is rare, and so it is important that the head of the household should know what to do in the little emergencies that arise. A child with a serious ailment needs a doctor, it is true, but in the majority of instances, as any doctor knows, the child suffers from some intestinal trouble, usually constipation.

There is no sense in giving it a pill or a remedy containing an opiate, nor is flushing of the bowels to be always recommended. Rather give it a small dose of a mild, gentle laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, by cleaning out the bowels and strengthening the little stomach muscles, will immediately correct the trouble.

This is not alone our opinion but that of Mrs. N. H. Mead of Freeport, Kan., whose granddaughter has been taking it successfully and of Mrs. J. R. Whiting of Lena, Wis., who gives it to her children and takes it herself. It is sold in fifty cent and one dollar bottles at every drug store, but if you want to test it in your family before you buy it send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will forward a trial bottle free of charge.

Address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Trust's Diabolical Schemes.

The woolen trust, having found that bayonets would not compel its $6, $7 and $8 a week workers to call off their strike, is now utilizing the hunger of little children as a club to force the parents to return to work at a reduced wage. Here is how the trust is working its new scheme:

Many charitable organizations in cities adjacent to Lawrence, where the strike is in progress, after reading of the desperate straits to which the strikers' children had been reduced, made arrangements to have hundreds of these children cared for in private homes outside of Lawrence until the strike ended. Under this plan, many children were sent away, some to New York and Boston, and some as far away as Philadelphia.

With the knowledge that their children were being cared for tenderly, the mothers and fathers back in Lawrence gained courage to carry on the fight. Freed from hearing their own children crying for bread the strikers took renewed hope.

What happened? The trust magnates, realizing that if all the little children were sent away from Lawrence the strikers could no longer endure the struggle, at once issued orders to the servile police and militia commanders to put a stop to the deportation of children. They knew that where bayonets, persecution, unlawful imprisonment, and all other ordinary weapons of big corporations in fighting the unions might fail, there remained one thing which the strikers could not resist, and that was the cry of their own children for food. These millionaires knew that where strong men and women could not bear to see their children suffer.

Accordingly there was issued an edict against sending the children away where they could obtain food. Immediately a squad of state soldiers was sent to each railroad station, and when the strikers arrived with their children many of them were seized and thrown into jail. Diabolical as this may seem it actually is being done, not in Russia, but right here in these United States.

The woolen trust is the most highly protected of all trusts. It makes millions of dollars annually in profits on stock that is watered until it is soggy, and it is the same trust which refuses steadfastly to listen to the plea of its men for a conference to talk over wage differences.

Query: Since the protectionists declared that Schedule K, which places a heavy tax on every article of woolen clothing sold in the United States, was passed "solely" to "protect" the workers in the woolen industry, and since these workers are receiving absolutely no protection whatever, why should the American people longer tolerate Schedule K.

Found Threaded Needle in Child's Body.

A most peculiar thing happened to the little twin boy of Mr. and Mrs. James Carr, near Salvisa, last Friday night. Mrs. Carr had dressed the little fellow for bed, and set him in the bed while she got his twin sister ready for bed also, says the Harrodsburg Herald. All through the night the boy was fretful and moaned in his sleep. Next morning when dressing him Mrs. Carr noticed a long white thread hanging, as she supposed, to his clothing. On attempting to remove the string, the little fellow screamed, and upon investigation it was found that the thread was attached to a large sewing needle that had penetrated the boy's flesh at the thigh leaving just enough of the needle projecting to get hold of it to draw it out. The needle had evidently been in the child's flesh for some time, as it had turned black, as had also the flesh around where the needle was sticking. The little fellow is now getting along nicely.

Growing Rice on Florida Farm.

Mr. G. W. Judy, formerly of Bourbon county, who has a farm located in Manatee county, Florida, is growing rice at a great profit upon his estate. In a communication to the Tampa, Fla., Times the manager of Mr. Judy's farm says:

"I have just read an article in your paper relative to growing rice in Florida as a paying crop. I wish to say I have just finished harvesting a crop of seventy acres of rice of which you have had a sample, grown by G. W. Judy, of Tampa, on his farm at Parrish, Fla. Judy's thousand acre farm. This crop of rice was planted on heavy muck soil, lands which were formerly planted in tomatoes, the producing of which was very satisfactory. After finishing tomatoes and the rainy season being near at hand we sowed our rice broadcast over the fields and covered lightly with disk harrows, using one and one-half bushels of seed per acre, planting between the dates July 10 and 20.

"Rice planted earlier than July 5 will, in all probability be attacked by birds, which are sometimes very disastrous to a rice crop. We have harvested from this crop forty-five bushels of rice and two tons of straw per acre; and in addition to this we are pasturing on this land hogs, cattle and horses. This field having a second growth of rice, will support nicely 100 head of hogs and 100 head of cattle and horses, from October until February, at which time this land will be planted in spring crops, such as tomatoes, cucumbers, etc. The stock will then be turned back to the highland pasture and fed from the straw stacks off this crop.

"We figure the profits received from the pasturage alone will reimburse the expense growing and harvesting this crop of rice. We find that growing rice on new muck lands is a great benefit in building up the land and making it much easier to cultivate each year. Where the land is 'furfy' and comparatively no soil, growing one crop of rice will thoroughly decay all dry vegetation, leaving the soil in a nice compact and mellow condition, and by following spring crops with rice we are thoroughly convinced the muck lands will be more productive each year.

"Mr. Judy believes rice to be one of the most profitable crops that can be grown in Florida, and another year he intends to have his farm equipped with facilities for cleaning the rice and baling the straw. Rice straw when properly cured, is one of the most valuable forages that can be produced. By feeding rice straw stock can be kept in fine condition on one half the grain used when being fed on timothy hay. I believe it will only be a short time before rice will be one of the most staple crops grown in this state, and would like to see every locality growing more rice and installing mills for cleaning the grain as Florida rice will be superior to any on the market.

Small Boy as Conservationist.

A lecturer before a suburban woman's club raised his voice with emphatic confidence. "I venture to assert," he said, "that there isn't one in this audience who realizes the importance of the conserving of our forests, not one who has ever done anything to prevent the destruction of our forests." A small boy who had accompanied his mother to the lecture interrupted in a high, childish voice. "I once shot a woodpecker," he said.

Live Australian Freaks.

A calf, somewhat of a freak of nature, was born on T. G. Ware's farm at Little Akarua, Australia, recently. It has five legs, the extra one working in a socket in the breastbone. The calf is thriving, and is strong and healthy. Another freak, a lamb, is reported to have been born at Plat Point Station. It has three ears and eight legs. It did not live.

Pioneer Tobacco Growers.

The original planters of fine tobacco in Honduras were Cubans, who brought their seed and methods of curing, and with favorable soil, climate, and labor conditions were successful, their tobacco taking first prize in several international exhibitions; quantities were exported to Cuba and sold as Habana tobacco. These planters became well to do and retired.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

has helped countless thousands of thin, weak, delicate children—made them strong, plump and robust.

It creates an appetite, aids digestion, fills the veins with rich red blood.

After illness or loss of weight from any cause, it brings strength and flesh quicker than anything else.

ALL DRUGGISTS

Why Women Are Not RICH.

Man is a millionaire many times over in the possession of blood cells. Woman is not quite so rich, for scientists have proven that the normal man has five million—the woman only four and a half million to a cubic millimetre of blood.

A decrease in number of red blood corpuscles and a person "looks pale"—in fact, is anemic, the blood does not get the right food and probably the stomach is disordered.

Dr. R. V. Pierce found years ago that a glyceric extract of golden seal and Oregon grape roots, queen's root and bloodroot with black cherrybark, would help the assimilation of the food in the stomach, correct liver ills and in Nature's own way increase the red blood corpuscles. This medicine he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By assimilating the food eaten the system is nourished and the blood takes on a rich red color. Nervousness is only "the cry of the starved nerves for food," and when the nerves are fed on rich red blood the person loses those irritable feelings, sleeps well at night and is refreshed in the morning.

"I was attacked with a severe nervous disease, which was caused by a disordered stomach and liver," writes Mr. J. D. Lively, of Washburn, Tenn., Route 2, Box 38. "All my friends thought I would die and the best physicians gave me up. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and derived much benefit from same. My case had run so long, it had become so chronic that nothing would effect a permanent cure, but Dr. Pierce's medicine has done much for me and I highly recommend it. I heartily advise its use as a spring tonic, and further advise taking people to take Dr. Pierce's medicines before their diseases have run so long that there is no chance to be cured."

ALL THE COMFORTS OF HOME.

will not be yours unless you have a parlor stove as artistic as it is serviceable. Have a look at the stoves in this hardware store. They are bright and attractive and really better heat makers than the ugliest old stove you ever saw. Prettiness costs nothing either. Plain stoves cannot be bought cheaper.

A lousy hen is always a poor layer.

Make the by-products of the dairy count.

Corn will make hens fat but it will not make them lay eggs.

The better bred the horse is, the more generally useful he is.

For fall feeding of dairy cattle sweet corn is exceedingly valuable.

The separator needs to be set perfectly level on a solid foundation.

The feed bill of the poultry yard can be cut in two if you know how.

Continued care in handling the dairy products is the price of success.

The value of silage as the cheapest and best succulent for cattle and hogs is fully established.

Regularity in feeding and milking will go a long way towards making dairy work successful.

All milk utensils should be heavily tinned and as free from seams as it is possible to get them.

Many of the irregularities in the health of the farm stock can be traced to injudicious feeding.

Wooden pails readily absorb milk particles, making it almost impossible to keep them sweet and clean.

The hatching-egg trade and the raising of stick for breeders have assumed the dignity of specialties.

It is to the poultryman's interest to keep his stock up to the best type, healthy and vigorous all the time.

A cold rain, fall or spring rain, will check the milk flow as much as a snow storm if the cows are exposed.

It will be noticed that though the prices of other farm stock are falling off, the dairy cow still holds her own.

In hot weather lice breed in pigeon houses by the million and extra care must be taken to keep down the vermin.

Rats in a pigeon house not only destroy the young but their presence frightens the birds so that they will not thrive.

If one has a large flock of sheep much time will be saved and better results obtained by the use of the machine clippers.

Sheep are extremely nervous and when being fattened for market they must be quiet and free from sudden alarm which will cause excitement.

Pigeons hatched in March are matured and ready for breeding in July and if the surroundings are congenial will continue to breed every month thereafter.

A young girl who raises about 100 White Plymouth Rocks, always brings every bird in the flock flying to her feet by a single particular cry she utters.

It is as impossible to estimate the productiveness and value of a cow as it is to guess the exact number of bushels of corn a certain field will yield.

While sheep will eat grain and any kind of grass and some kinds of weeds, they are, after all, dainty feeders and their feed must be absolutely clean.

There are several signs that indicate good health—a bright red comb, activity, readiness for food, and a glossy and smooth appearance of the feathers.

French pigeon fanciers feed millet with a slight mixture of hemp seed, and also very small peas soaked in water. The feeding is done by hand in many cases.

The Massachusetts experiment station says that lime is an aid to good farming but cannot take the place of fertilizers, stable manure, thorough cultivation and proper crop rotation.

A small flock of sheep in addition to furnishing excellent profit and keeping down weeds, furnishes the most practical meat supply for the farmer, especially during the summer.

Every colt should be taught a fast walking gait. This can be done by gently pushing him while walking but he should never be urged too long at a time before changing his gait.

If we feed and care for sheep we are fattening as they should be cared for to make the most profit from this mutton, we also supply the very best conditions to produce the best wool in the combing class.

To the up-to-date and progressive dairyman and to the most advanced cattle feeders, the use of the silo and the feeding of ensilage is recognized as being necessary to the greatest success in their respective lines of business.

The farmer ought to be able to produce eggs at a feed cost of about eight cents a dozen. To do this he must keep the hens which will make the best showing, instead of a lot of mongrels of no breeding and without laying capacity.

It Made A Difference

"Here!" burst out the young man suspiciously after his sister had knocked at his door the sixth time to ask if there wasn't something she could do to help him get ready for the party to which he was going. "What's the matter, anyhow, Em? Do you think I'm so decrepit that I'm not able any longer to attire myself or is it that you love me so you can't keep away from me?"

"I think you're horrid and rude," said the young man's sister, opening the door and entering. "Of course I'm fond of you, Jimmy. Fonder than you realize. I always have your best interests at heart."

"Is it a touch?" he asked surprisedly. "So soon after the holidays, too?"

"Jimmy," said his sister, seating herself and shaking her head at him sorrowfully, "you haven't a bit of sentiment or any of the finer emotions, have you? I don't want a thing! I just wanted to talk to you. Why don't you get married?"

The young man laid down the clothes brush he was using and, leaning toward her, stared. "Don't you feel well?" he asked with solicitude in his voice.

"Do you think you are funny?" she asked, indignantly.

"Mostly," said the young man, going on with his brushing, "a fellow's mother and sister throw spasms if he suggests matrimony for himself and the whole family has hysterics, so I don't understand you."

"I'd just love to see you married, Jimmy," his sister declared, eagerly. "Honestly! Nothing would please me more than to have you pick out the right sort of girl and settle down in your own comfortable little home. Think how nice it would be for me to have a sister and what fun she and I could have together and how glad I would be for you—"

"Would you really feel that way, sis?" the young man asked, with interest. "I hadn't any idea—I thought you'd cut up a terrible row if I did such a thing!"

"That's all you know about me, Jimmy," his sister insisted, sweetly. "You don't appreciate the depth of my affection in the least! Why, I would be a selfish, horrid creature if I didn't want you to be happy! I can't imagine why you should have got such an idea in your head! And you're such an all around fine boy, too, that you deserve a mighty fine girl, let me tell you!"

"I am astonished," declared the young man, seriously. "All these revelations are overwhelming. Particularly after the years of sisterly lectures on which I have been brought up! I thank you!"

"Oh, be mean if you want to," said his sister. "Only I hope you'll be on your best behavior the next two weeks because I have a guest coming. Of course, I don't expect you to give up your engagements to help me out, but if you could find time to be a little nice to Harriet I'd be obliged. You've heard me talk of her—tall and a raving beauty and the family has heaps of money and she refused a millionaire the year she—"

"I see it all," said the young woman's brother. "You want me to fall in love with Harriet and marry her!"

"Now, Jimmy!" protested his sister. "How absurd of you! As though I didn't think you could manage your own affairs without my help! You'll be perfectly crazy about her complexion and she's the sweetest—but I wouldn't have you think, not for the worlds, that I had any notion like that in mind. I was just speaking in the abstract. Just in a general way. You are such a suspicious person!"

"I see," said her brother, searching out his dress muffler. "It is merely that you feel it is time for me to marry and settle down and you have no ulterior motives—you'd be perfectly happy if you could be sure that I was happy—is that it?"

"Of course," said his sister. "I'm surprised that you could think anything else. Harriet certainly has a way with her. And they have I don't know how many automobiles and a place on Long Island and she'd be the loveliest sort of a girl to have in the fam—"

"You don't know how relieved I am," interrupted the young man, reaching up for his silk hat box, "to find you have such warm hearted sympathy and so much interest in my future. It makes it easier to tell you that I've just got engaged to Marion Brooks—the one we went to school with!"

"James Henry Ward!" gasped his sister, as she fumbled for her handkerchief. "That girl! That insignificant, poor as poverty, ordinary girl, when—and I don't see why you want to get married, anyhow—aren't you perfectly comfortable here at home? Men are such idiots!"

Discrepancy Somewhere.

Aviators are popularly supposed to be men of iron nerve and perfect physical condition. Yet the great Verdun was rejected for military service on account of physical shortcomings and a special arrangement had to be made by which his services as an aviator might be utilized during the French maneuvers.

The Men Who Succeed

as heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Success today demands health. To all is to fail. It's utter folly for a man to endure a weak run down, half alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him right on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more real good than any other medicine I ever took," writes Chas. B. Allen, Sylvania, Ga. "After years of suffering with rheumatism, liver trouble, stomach disorders, and deranged kidneys, I am again, thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Try them. 50c at Oberdorfer's.

Horse Pedometers.

The whorls of hair on the coats of horses and other animals are natural pedometers, inasmuch as they register the locomotive activities of the animals on whose bodies they are found.

The best examples and the greatest number of these hairy whorls and crests are found on the domestic horse. A notable instance is the graceful feathering that extends along the hollow of the flank, dividing the trunk of the animal from the hind-quarters. There are also crests and whorls on the horse's chest and other parts of its body.

A study of the action of the underlying muscles explains the origin of these peculiarities in the lay of the hair and furnishes the justification for calling them pedometers, although the analogy is, of course, merely superficial.

Uncle Ezra Says

"It don't take more'n a gill uv effort to git folks into a peck of trouble," and a little neglect of constipation, biliousness, indigestion or other liver derangement will do the same. If ailing take Dr. King's New Life Pills for quick results. Easy, safe, sure, and only 15c at Oberdorfer's.

What We Never Forget

according to science, are the things associated with our early home life, such as Bucklen's Arnica Salve, that mother or grandmother used to cure our burns, boils, scalds, sores, skin eruptions, cuts, sprains or bruises. Forty years of cures prove its merit. Unrivalled for piles, corns or cold sores. Only 25c at Oberdorfer's.

Many Driven From Home.

Ever year in many parts of the country thousands are driven from their homes by coughs and lung diseases. Friends and business are left behind for other climates, but this is costly and not always sure. A better way—the way of multitudes—is to use Dr. King's New Discovery and cure yourself at home. Stay right there with your friends and take this safe medicine. Throat and lung troubles find quick relief and health returns. Its help in coughs, colds, grip, croup, whooping cough and sore lungs make it a positive blessing. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer.

Narrow Escape from Wreck.

Northbound passenger train No. 38, due in this city Saturday afternoon at 3:25 o'clock, from Knoxville, jumped the track near Livingston, Rockcastle county, and by almost a miracle the passengers and train crew were saved from death. The train was running at a rate of about forty-five miles an hour, and from some unknown cause the engine jumped the track and ran for a distance of several hundred yards before it could be stopped. The locomotive was brought to a stop at the edge of a steep cliff, overlooking Rockcastle River. Fortunately none of the cars left the track. Had the engine turned over it would have run down the cliff a distance of several hundred feet and would have dragged the entire train with it. The train was delayed about two hours.

Prominent Woman Suffers Burns

At Richmond Mrs. John Greenleaf, while attempting to put some coal on the fire her dress was ignited by the flames and she was dangerously burned. A colored man, hearing her scream ran to her assistance and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not until she was terribly burned from the waist down. She was the mother of Miss Van Greenleaf, who is well known in this city, where she has frequently visited.

RAILROAD GETS SET-BACK

Committee of North Middletown Citizens Encounter Serious Obstacle Here.

WAY NOW SEEMS BLOCKED

Some Farmers Place Valuation on Their Property That Has Discouraged Enthusiasts.

Discouraged over the obstacle encountered at the very beginning when the committee sought to secure the options on the right of way from this city to North Middletown, the citizens of that community now regard the success of the venture to acquire options along the proposed route for the new railroad as problematical, but as yet have not given up hopes.

The success of the venture depends largely upon the results at this end of the line, and while there is little doubt the options could be obtained if money was available, still they claim the demands made for the right through farms at the beginning has been boosted sky high and was a source of great disappointment to the Middletown people.

A committee composed of Messrs. John T. Collins, C. C. Clark, Chas. Meng, E. K. Thomas, Ed Rice and other prominent citizens of that community, was in the city Saturday and waited upon Mayor J. T. Hinton, one party through whose farm the survey for the line extends. The purpose of the committee was to secure an option on about ten acres of land for the proposed route. The committee was very much discouraged over the attitude of Mayor Hinton and the valuation he set upon his property.

The decision of Mayor Hinton they say is calculated to influence a large number of property owners along the proposed route who have signified their willingness to put their property in at a cost in a reasonable measure as compared with that of Mayor Hinton, and with the decision of Saturday comes the opinion that if all the land owners along the proposed line demand the same figures it will be beyond the power of the citizens of North Middletown to furnish the right of way.

Mr. L. P. Bell, of the engineering department of the Louisville and Nashville was present at the meeting but left town shortly afterwards. He is expected to return in a few days. Mr. Bell has about finished the work from North Middletown to Hedges Station and has so far signed up 33 pieces of property, 16 of which were given free and the remaining at a nominal cost, which will reach in the aggregate a sum of about $7,200. The results obtained were highly satisfactory to Mr. Bell and the committee from North Middletown.

It is the opinion of the North Middletown people that the land owners along the route from this city should be equally as reasonable in proportion and in view of this the right of way could be closed. The options taken, and which expire June 1, provide that in event the railroad is not constructed the right of purchase may exercise the right of purchase on each side of the right of way, and has been liberal in all concessions to the property owners.

Between Paris and North Middletown there are twenty-four pieces of property, thirteen of which belong to prosperous farmers, two belong to men in moderate circumstances and the remainder to colored people. The citizens of North Middletown are very hopeful of enlisting the co-operation of the business men of this city, and figure that Paris will be more greatly benefited by the new road than any other community.

There has been no movement on the part of the citizens of this city so far as to assist the North Middletown people in securing the right-of-way, but it is hoped that since the committee selected to secure options on property from this city local interest will revive and all assistance possible rendered them.

Puzzling Problem in Seventh.

Considerable discussion is being indulged in by the politicians of the Seventh district as to the effect the passage of the Congressional redistricting bill will have upon the primary election which was called for March 16, and against which a restraining order was issued in the Fayette County Court Saturday.

Under the bill, which has already passed the Senate, and which, will no doubt pass the House, the counties of Lee, Estill, Powell and Clark are placed in this district, and as the bill has an emergency clause these counties will be part of the district when the primary is held if the bill passes.

The question which is puzzling the politicians of the district is that the primary has been arranged only to be held in the counties now composing the Seventh district, and of course no provision has been made for the counties that have been added. Yet if the redistricting measure becomes a law before the primary is held the added counties would naturally demand that they have a voice in selecting their congressman. The matter has been discussed in its various phases and the conclusions widely differ.

DEATHS.

—A telegram received Friday by Mr. James McClure announced the death of Mr. William A. Osborn, who died at Atlanta, Ga., at the age of 54 years. Mr. Osborn was formerly of Bourbon county, and for a number of years being engaged in the pursuit of agriculture, residing on his farm on the Bethlehem pike which was sold to Mr. Joseph Stivers.

After disposing of his farm Mr. Osborn moved to Paris where he was engaged in the agricultural implement business being associated with Mr. W. H. Weinwright, and was located in the building in the rear of the court house which is now occupied by Mr. Chas. W. Heck as a carriage shop.

Later Mr. Osborn was identified with the poultry business and in this was associated with Mr. A. O. Gilman. During the panic in the early seventies the firm of Osborn & Weinwright failed. The latter member of the firm moved to Texas, while Mr. Osborn, with his family located in Atlanta, where he has since resided.

Although he was twice married Mr. Osborn died a widower. His first wife was a daughter of the late Thos. Jones of this city. She was the mother of three children, all of whom survive, one daughter, who is married, residing in Washington, D. C., while the second daughter, Miss Pauline Osborn and one son, Mr. George T. Osborn, resided in Atlanta with their father.

Mr. Osborn was a writer of considerable note and contributed many articles to the Atlanta papers, most of them being upon religious subjects and upon some phase of Kentucky interest. He was a member of the Methodist church, and while a resident of this city was very active in church work. Upon moving to Atlanta he transferred his membership to the First Methodist church of that city.

While here on a visit about four years ago, the guest of Mr. James McClure, he made all of his funeral arrangements, and stated that he desired to be buried in this city. He selected his pall-bearers, and of the nine chosen three of the number have since died. They were the late K. J. Neely, John N. Davis and Chas. Penn.

The remains arrived here Sunday morning on the 5:20 Louisville & Nashville train and were taken to the undertaking establishment of Mr. Geo. W. Davis. The funeral services were conducted at the grave in the Paris cemetery Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock conducted by Rev. J. S. Simms of the Methodist church. The body was interred in the family lot beside the mother of his children. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Nathan Bayless, Sr., R. B. Hutchcraft, Wm. H. McMillan, George R. Bell, Henry A. Power and James McClure.

—Mrs. Mary Welsh, aged 76 years, died at the St. Joseph Hospital, Lexington, Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock of pneumonia, following an illness of ten days. Mrs. Welsh was a native of Ireland and came to America about fifty years ago. For the past several years she has made her home in Lexington and Mt. Sterling.

The body was taken to Mt. Sterling Sunday night to the home of her son, Mr. J. J. Walsh. The body will be brought to this city this morning on the early morning train and the funeral services will be held at the church of the Annunciation at 9 o'clock this morning, conducted by Rev. Father Eugene DeBruyn. The burial will take place in the Paris Catholic cemetery.

BIRTHS.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simms, of Woodford county, are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a handsome daughter at their home last Wednesday. She will be called Lucy, which is a name very much honored on both sides of her family.

—Probably the youngest mother in the world was reported Saturday from Hazel Green when Mrs. Henry Noble, aged 13 years, gave birth to a child. The grandmother of the baby is only twenty-nine.

—Born, in Lexington to the wife of J. B. Latta a son—J. B. Latta, Jr. Mrs. Latta was formerly Miss Lucille Williams, of this city.

—Born, Friday, March 1, to the wife of Mr. W. Ray Clark, nee Swart, a daughter, Audrey Mattie Clark.

Gay Wins in Final Race.

In the third and final race between J. D. Gay, of Pine Grove, Clark county and Harry Kehler, of Philadelphia, at the Hill Top Gun Club's range Friday afternoon, the Kentuckian defeated his Philadelphia opponent by a score of 93 to 80 birds. The race Friday afternoon was the close of the series of three for a purse of $1,500. On this occasion the weather was cold and disagreeable, but the shooting of Gay was not hindered in the least by the prevailing weather conditions, except on the first day when the high wind which blew over the range was responsible for many misses. The final result was Gay 269, Kehler 242. A very enthusiastic crowd attended the closing event and congratulations were heaped upon the winner of the match.

with ample resources and excellent equipment stands ready to act as Executor or Administrator of estates and as Trustee or Guardian of infant heirs and other persons, and in all fiduciary capacities. In addition their Trust Department is empowered to act as management of property, as Assignee and as Trustee for bond issues.

All business, large or small, will be given careful attention by the officers of the Bourbon Bank & Trust Co. and will be under the supervision of the Board of Directors.

Bourbon Lodge Well Represented

Bourbon Lodge No. 23, I. O. O. F., was well represented at the meeting held in Lexington Thursday night, when the degree team of Merrick lodge conferred the first degree upon about forty candidates. Seventy-five members of the local lodge went over on an interurban car leaving here at 6 o'clock and returning about 11:30. Those from Bourbon lodge who took the degree were Robert Goggin, J. F. Ingles, W. F. Link, George D. Speakes, Prof. J. S. Johnson and Dr. J. T. Brown.

My Doctor Said

"Try Cardui," writes Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hayne, N. C. "I was in a very low state of health, and was not able to be up and tend to my duties. I did try Cardui, and soon began to feel better. I got able to be up and help do my housework. I continued to take the medicine, and now I am able to do my housework and to care for my children, and I feel as though I could never praise Cardui enough for the benefits I have received."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Cardui is successful, because it is made especially for women, and acts specifically on the womanly constitution. Cardui does one thing, and does it well. That explains the great success which it has had, during the past 50 years, in helping thousands of weak and ailing women back to health and happiness.

If you are a woman, feel tired, dull, and are nervous, cross and irritable, it's because you need a tonic. Why not try Cardui? Cardui builds, strengthens, restores, and acts in every way as a special, tonic remedy for women. Test it for yourself. Your druggist sells Cardui. Ask him.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES

—Little tobacco was pledged to the ten year pool in Clark county.

—Horses that have heavy coats of hair should be clipped just before the new hair starts.

—Too much corn has caused the loss of many a fine litter of pigs and often the loss of the sow as well.

—Horses in great numbers in the vicinity of Glasgow are said to be dying of a mysterious disease.

—R. M. Wilson, of Millersburg, sold to a Morristown, Tenn. party a three year old mare by King Chieftian 2846, for $350.

—The Burley Tobacco Society will in a few weeks begin work on its $50,000 loose leaf warehouse, storage and redrying plant at Carlisle.

—If a horse's slobbers look at his teeth. They may be sharp and need filing, but do not do so yourself unless you have had some experience in this line.

—It is estimated that where a herd of cows are given troughs with a constant supply of water the increase in milk was one pound per day on an average.

—Three hundred acres of hemp will be grown this season on Elemendorf farm in Fayette county, which has been sold in advance to Eastern parties at a private price.

—Mr. Ed Burke, of this city, purchased last week on the Louisville tobacco market 50,000 pounds of the weed at an average of 14 cents per pound.

—The Mathers bill providing for the inspection of bulls, cows and calves as to their having tuberculosis and providing for destroying those that have it, passed the Senate Friday by a vote of 26 to 0.

—S. C. Carpenter, of Millersburg, bought at the Duke sale in Mason county three Percheron mares for a total of $865. The stock was bought for Jones & Vaughn, of Tennessee.

—James M. Terry, of Harrison, purchased of W. M. Jones & Son, of North Middletown, a chestnut five gaited saddle horse by Cripple Chief at a private figure.

—Quick, intelligent attention will often save a lamb, or a pair of them or the ewe as well. In case of twins one is always weaker than the other, and would die if not assisted to nourishment. A tablespoonful of oatmeal a day to each ewe, given regularly is a sensible addition to the ration.

—The bill introduced by Hon. Sidney G. Clay providing that all license fees paid on stallions, jacks, bulls, boars and rams shall be paid to the fair association in the county where the animals stand or to the State Fair if the county has no fair, passed the House Friday.

—Nicholas county can boast of two of the youngest tobacco growers in the State. They are Julian and Hobart Feedback, aged 11 and 9 years respectively. Without the assistance of anyone they cultivated a crop of tobacco which when ready for the market weighed 665 pounds and sold at Carlisle at an average of $11.60 per hundred.

—Most of the methods of "breaking up" hens from setting are cruel, and tire and distress the innocent hens who are not to blame for their instinct. The kindest way is the following: When it is necessary to stop the inclination, place the hen in a nice clean coop alone with fresh grass and all the meat cut fine that she will eat. The meat immediately increases the egg nourishment, and while the hen is having a really good time she is fast preparing herself to commence laying eggs. It will take but two or three days before she forgets all about setting, having other affairs to attend to.

Point to Remember.

It was the ballet master who spoke. The occasion was the rehearsal in London of the Walpurgis scene in Guonod's "Faust." He chided: "Lolides, lolides, take yer 'ands off yer 'ips, yer not dancing on 'Ampstead 'eath; yer dancin' in 'ell."

FREE IF IT FAILS.

Your Money Back if You are Not Satisfied With the Medicine We Recommend.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons, and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold in Paris only at our store—The Rexall Store, G. S. Varden & Son.

Reaching a Compromise

Putting Jeffrey Webber and style together in one thought would have struck all his friends as a most startling act of lunacy, something in the light of touching a match to a bundle of excelsior and daring it to burn.

All his life he had shied at neckties on the theory that if the benefi-cent powers above had dowered a man with chin whiskers it was rank extravagance for him to adorn himself with unseen finery. Likewise he could not understand the blind foolishness of masculine individuals who turned from celluloid collars which one could wash daily and thus save unnecessary laundry bills. As for clothes—they were merely required for covering.

This, then, was the problem Antoinette Webber had to wrestle with when she came back from boarding school and began to get the family arranged for her wedding.

Being a woman, her mother was quite amenable to new ideas, but when Antoinette tackled Jeffrey he figuratively stood up on his hind legs and roared a war cry.

"Dress suit!" he choked. "Me! At my age! Crack! Never!"

"Now, father," Antoinette began soothingly, quite as though she held a tablespoonful of bitter medicine in one hand and was prying open his teeth with the other, "I want you to look your best when Horace and his friends get here."

"Look my best!" her father roared again. "Dressed up like a monkey on a stick!"

"And you've got to wear a tie," Antoinette broke in, firmly.

They revived Antoinette's father with tender care, but he never was the same man after that. He gloomed around the premises, surveying with a hostile eye the housecleaning preparations for the coming wedding and he developed a jumpiness at everything unusual and suspicious.

Antoinette was in despair. She was marrying into rather a fashionable family and the thought of Horace's college friends and his family arriving to find that while her father had a heavy bank account he had no sense of sartorial values was a tragedy.

"Horace and his party won't get here till the day itself," Antoinette told her mother in one of their hopeless conferences. "They won't notice dad so much then, but in the evening, at the wedding—mother, I'll just die if he wears that baggy old gray sack suit and his celluloid collar and no tie!"

"Then I'm afraid you're due to die, daughter," said Mrs. Webber, who had been married to Antoinette's father long enough to know.

"I won't!" snapped Antoinette, with the blind faith of youth in its powers.
"I'll manage it somehow. I'm not going to have the only wedding I'll have in my whole life spoiled by father's ridiculous stubbornness!"

She and her father eyed each other warily toward the last, like gladiators before the fight. Her father ostentatiously bought a new celluloid collar and a fresh ten cent collar button and a new pair of calfskin boots.

The day of the wedding Antoinette's father, the only incongruous spot in a refurbished, decorated house, filled with frills and fluff, went upstairs to get ready for the evening's fray. Laying out his new collar and collar button and simply tossing his old gray clothes over a chair, he stepped into the bathroom for his ablutions. He was absent 20 minutes.

When he came back to his room he blinked. On the bed were spread some strange black things. The coat was low cut and had long tails. Patent leather pumps stood flendishly beside a pair of silk socks. There were also some weird stand-up linen collars and a box of white ties and a large bosomed shirt. There was nothing else in the way of clothes in the room.

Nobody paid any attention to his ravings and poundings, for everybody was dressing the bride or was getting dressed. Choking, gasping, hectic with rage, Antoinette's father danced in his bathrobe, poking a finger now and then at the hated garments.

Finally the wedding went on. Everybody was present but the bride's father. After the ceremony and congratulations the bride herself headed a search party for him.

Holding her trailing satin skirt in one hand, Antoinette, accompanied by Horace, ran him down at last in the most secluded corner of the haymow.
There he sat, hunched up, smoking a pipe fiercely. He had on the clothes, swathed, bunched around him, the dress shirt and the high collar and all —but the collar button gleamed defiantly between the strands of his whiskers, proclaiming his last stand—no necktie! He glared at his daughter and his newly achieved son-in-law.

"Father," begged the bride tremulously, "come down, please! It's time to go in to supper. There's scalloped oysters and—"

"I've put on these clothes," her father interrupted her sternly, "because I'm a law abiding citizen and you took the others away, but I'll be everlastingly goldurned if I'm going to exhibit myself in 'em before sensible human beings! If you want the wedding check I've written out for you, Antoinette, you see that I git them oysters and other dewdads right out here."
So they compromised on that basis.

Winter is coming, batten the cracks.

Sour milk is caused by dirt and warmth.

What water is to a person a dust
bath is to a hen.

See that your fowls are absolutely free from vermin.

If the feathers are to be sold, ducks must be dry picked.

There is profit in breeding turkeys up to the fifth year.

The value of butter increases as the quality improves.

A good horseman never trots a draft horse, even when he has no load.

Laying hens need from 15 to 25 per cent meat scraps added daily to their mash.

Don't feed hay or other forage,
which will raise a dust, before or during milking.

Tainted, musty or mouldy feeds
should never be served in the dairy herd rations.

The best market for skim milk on the farm is afforded by good dairy calves and quick growing pigs.

If the cream in the churn foams up and runs over, the churn is too full or the cream is improperly ripened.

Simply because a calf is given her ration of milk each day, it does not signify that she does not need water also.

Cholera and other diseases of swine attack herds which are in poor condition and consequently most susceptible.

If your horse is troubled with indigestion have the animal clipped and its teeth attended to by a veterinarian.

Until recent years the poultry business, especially on the farms, was of so little importance that not much attention was paid to it.

Prune out old canes of raspberries and blackberries and burn them. Thin the hills to three or four shoots. Cultivate, and add some manure to the soil.

The red mites or lice do not stay on the fowls during the daytime, but hide in cracks during the day, sally-ing forth after dark to seek their prey.

Orchardists who have never used dynamite should be sure to get all possible information from the manufacturers of the explosive before attempting to use it.

If celery is to be brought into the cellar for winter storage cut the top root, lift it from the ground and then with a strong knife cut off the branching roots and most of the earth.

Leaky fowls are necessarily weaker than fowls that are free from lice, and strength and vitality are quite important factors while the fowls are producing their new suit of clothes.

If your fowls have the range of the fields and orchards and can pick up a number of insects and worms daily, you will not need to bother much about the meat supply in the ration.

The raising of poultry on the farm or in conjunction with fruit growing, can be made very profitable with the same kind of management that is devoted to raising good stock or good grain.

Everything should be kept as clean on the little chicks' feeding floors as if it is on the floor of the kitchen.
If this is done the little birds will never have gapes or many of the chicken diseases.

If you are feeding clover, remember to cut down the bulk. This is a heavy food and you can't use as much of it as you can of timothy without doing your horse harm.

In filling a silo attention must be given to the outer edges, for when the silage begins to settle there is always a draw away from the wall, leaving an air space that makes the silage spoil.

There is no better germ slayer than an ounce of carbolic acid added to a pail of whitewash. Give the walls and ceiling of the hen house a good coating, working it in rather thick in all cracks and crevices.

There is not a farm in the country where farming is seriously attempted at all where it is necessary to try to raise chickens without decent provision for the safety of the flock and for the convenience of the attendant.

With eggs bringing an average of over 20 cents a dozen and market pultry at 15 cents a pound and over, it is an easy matter to show paper profits that leave most other lines of farming clear round the corner.

The filling of the silo and thus providing a supply of palatable and succulent feed for the stock for the entire year is not only a sign of progress
but is an indication that the farmer
so doing is producing milk or beef more easily and economically than his neighbors who have no silo.

First to Practice Palmistry.
Gypsies introduced the practice of palmistry into England. This appears from a statute of 1531 called an "Acte concerning Egepsians," which recites that "afore this tyme dyverse and many outlandyshe People, callinge them-selves Egepsians, using no crafte nor faicte of marchaundyse, have comen into this Realme and gone from Shire to Shire and Place to Place, and used greute subtyll and crafty meanes to deceyve the people that they by palmestre could tell menne and womens fortunes, and have by crafte and subtyllie deceyved the people of their money."

As to the "Dogdays."
The "dogdays" are so called because the Greeks on first beholding
the star Sirius with the naked eye were wont to sacrifice a brown dog to appease his wrath, the general belief being that Sirius was the cause of the hot, sultry weather usually attendant upon its appearance, and that on the first morning of its rising the sea boiled, wine turned sour, dogs grew mad and man became afflicted with all manner of burning fevers, hysterics and frenzies. At Argos a festival was held during the dogdays known as "Cynophantes," which means that dogs were killed on sight.

Misquotation.
It is very surprising to find in the Charlotte Observer this misquotation of an old phrase, "Everything was lovely and the goose was hanging high." This is the way the uninformed commonality have come to write it, but in the Tar Heel coun-

Agricultural Train.

What will no doubt prove to be the greatest agricultural train ever run in the South in the interest of the farmers, livestock breeders and rural homes will be inaugurated March 25. They will be run under the auspices of the Kentucky Experiment Station, Agricultural Department and railways, and will traverse seventy counties of the State, carrying a handsome equipment and prominent speakers.

Return to Carlisle.

Mr. Robert George, who for several months has been a resident of this city, occupying the residence on South Main street of Elder J. T. Sharrard, moved with his family Friday to Carlisle, where he formerly resided. Mr. George is associated with Mr. Hatfield Bappert in the brick contracting business, and the firm has several large contracts upon which they will begin in the early spring in Carlisle.

Cantrill Addresses Bourbon Voters.

Hon. J. Campbell Cantrill, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Seventh Congressional District addressed the voters of Bourbon county in the interest of his candidacy at the court house yesterday afternoon. A crowd estimated at about two hundred greeted the Congressman but little enthusiasm was displayed.

Mr. Cantrill's speech was along the same lines as those delivered in his past campaigns. He referred to his record in Congress and the interest he had taken in legislation for the benefit of the agricultural interests of the State. Severe criticism was meted out to the Lexington Herald for its active campaign against his candidacy and he denied the charges that had been brought against him in a previous campaign regarding the alleged bribe paid him by John C. Noel to change his vote as to the location of the capitol, in which he declared he had been vindicated by the court.

Mr. Cantrill paid a high compliment to his opponent, Hon. H. A. Schobert, but in the same breath arraigned him severely for breaking faith after he (Cantrill) had befriended him in his race for the Speakership of the House.

March Court.

March court day was cold and disagreeable and while the crowd was good considering the weather conditions, business was rather slow but the merchants reported fair trade, which is due in a degree to the large amounts of money derived from the sale of tobacco recently and which has been turned into the hands of the farmers.

The mule market was rather brisk owing to the approach of the spring season when work stock will be in demand and a number of good sales were made. The demand was good and of the 100 head which were on the market a great many changed hands at prices ranging from $150 to $180 per head.

Caywood & McClintock, who a few days ago purchased the business of Mr. Walter Clark, were on the market with some fine mules and report the following sales: Nine head to Asa Jewell, of Lexington, for $1,630; 2 to Mr. Monson at $325; 2 to Oscar Henry at $365; 2 head to Woodford Buckner, $385; 2 to Jeff Weathers, $375. They purchased 6 mules at prices ranging from $150 to $185 per head. Very few horses were offered but the supply greatly exceeded the demand.

At the pens of M. J. Murphy & Co., only one bunch of thirty-five head of 850 pound cattle were offered but there was no demand and they were left unsold.

Beauty Hint.

Red elbows, says the Evening News, are happily a thorn which may be removed. Saw off the red elbows, soak them in a bleaching mixture of unslaked lime, steep them in carbolic acid, and they will never trouble you again. Cold feet may be treated similarly.

Purchase Mule Barn.

Mr. H. S. Caywood, of North Middle town and Mr. W. G. McClintock, of Paris, purchased of Mr. Walter Clark his mule barn on South Main street and took possession Friday. The business will be conducted under the firm name of Caywood & McClintock.

One Penalty of Advancing Age.

As we get older we find one of the sad things in life is the way in which the number of those who call us by our Christian name diminishes.

Warrant Issued for Negro.

At the instance of John Henry Robert, colored, a warrant was issued yesterday by Squire L. J. Fretwell against James Veach, charging him with assaulting with a deadly weapon. Roberts conducts a store at Brentsville, a negro settlement about four miles from Paris and Saturday night it is said Veach entered the store provoked a quarrel. After being ejected from the store he returned a short time afterwards with a shotgun and bursting in the door threatened the life of Roberts.

Ten-Year Pool a Success.

The Burley Society District Board will meet in Lexington today and declare the campaign of four months duration in Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio in favor of the ten year pool, to have been a success.

Over 100,000 acres of land have been pledged and the returns will be canvassed and officially announced today.

Goodman the First to Report.

The first member of the Paris team for the season of 1912 to report for spring training was B. F. Goodman, who came in Thursday night from his home at Paintsville. The remainder of the team are scheduled to report to the Paris management March 20.

Goodman came in several days ahead of the regular date set for reporting, but the fact that smallpox is raging in a nearby town to Paintsville and for fear of the disease spreading to his home town, which in that event might result in a quarantine, he decided to come to Paris and make the best of the time between now and the date set for reporting in getting himself in condition. Goodman looks the picture of health and states that during the winter he has taken on about fourteen pounds. As soon as the weather permits he will begin active training and hopes to be in excellent shape when Manager Lewis and the other members of the team put in their appearance.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

A FIRE-FIGHTING INVENTOR.

By A. W. MACY.

John Lofting, a citizen of London in the latter part of the eighteenth century, had a passion for fighting fires. Though never a member of the fire department, he always responded to an alarm, and was usually one of the first to arrive on the scene. He rendered efficient service, but would accept no pay. He was a metal worker by trade, and in 1792 he invented a contrivance to protect the thumb while sewing. It was a sort of bell-shaped cup, hence it was called a thumb-bell. In the course of time this was changed into the more euphonious "thimble." The article is now worn on one of the fingers while sewing, instead of on the thumb as formerly, though sailors stick to the old custom.

Baldwin Packing Co. Reorganized.

Articles of incorporation of a new concern known as the Bourbon Packing Co., have been filed with County Clerk Pearce Paton. The new company was recently organized for the purpose of taking over the property of the Baldwin Packing Company which ceased to operate several months ago and whose plant was located on the Kentucky Midland Railroad.

The company is capitalized at $40,000 divided into four hundred shares with a par value of $100 each, and all of the stock has been subscribed for by the stockholders comprised the Baldwin Packing Co. Under the new papers of incorporation the Bourbon Packing Co. is to continue business for a period of twenty-five years unless sooner dissolved.

An agreement signed by the stockholders in the Baldwin Packing Co., was filed with the articles of incorporation, and by which they surrender all bonds and stocks in the old concern in lieu of which they accept stock in the new concern at the par value of $100 per share in proportion to their holdings in the Baldwin Packing Co.

The organizers of the new company are Chas. C. Clark, T. J. Judy, J. A. Larue, C. M. Thomas, C. Arnsperger, M. R. Jacoby, F. L. Lapsley, F. P. White, J. N. Steele, W. W. Hall, W. T. Redmon, J. G. Redmon, A. P. Adair, John L. Soper, W. W. Haley, S. S. Ardery, J. D. Booth, Jas. H. Haggard, Wm. Shire, James Daugherty, H. A. Power, D. B. Anderson and M. H. Dailey.

The stockholders of the company will hold a meeting on March 9, at which time officers will be elected and plans discussed looking to the opening of the new concern for business.
